WE NOMINATE

Hugh Leonard Rusch, a dominant personality in the Princeton-centered "survey industry," who several times in recent weeks has made headlines with his thoughtful comments on the "Industrial State of the Nation." Vice-president of Opinion Research Corporation since 1946 and in this capacity largely responsible for the functioning of The Employee and Public Opinion Index for Industry, a research program revolving about public and industrial problems of concern to management, this 54-year old pollster—a veteran of some 30 years in the ranks—probably knows as much as any living American about "attitudes of employees in America's industrial plants," "what engineers expect from industry" and the understandable "stockpiling of engineers" in industry.

Wisconsin-born and a University of Wisconsin classmate of Charles A. Lindbergh and Senator Wayne Morse, Rusch "took a gamble in the early 1920's and wound up in surveys for life." Contrary to the counsel of faculty colleagues, he interrupted a teaching career at Wisconsin to sign on with the pioneering survey firm of A. C. Nielsen Company. He moved on to the Johns-Manville Corporation and the Northern Pump Company of Minneapolis and returned to Nielsen for eight years of duty as executive vice-president before joining Opinion Research shortly after World War II. Over the years, while patenting hydraulic transmissions and an electro-hydraulic motor, he gained wide recognition for his "savvy" of the problems generated by employee, public and financial relations.

Rusch, an active member of a half-dozen professional societies and a featured speaker this week at the Yale-sponsored seventh annual conference of the Connecticut Personnel Association, has even succeeded in applying research techniques to lifelong hobby interests. A confirmed fisherman, who started at age five along the home-town creek and gradually progressed to sailfish, tuna and river salmon, he enlisted the services of fishing guides in determining that the best periods for fishing a famed Canadian river are the months of May and September—the times of year he is most likely to be unavailable in Princeton. Wall-maps in his 44 Nassau Street office not only account for the 50,000 miles he travels annually on business but also pinpoint the places he has made time for "wetting a line."

Over a quarter-century ago, long before Newsweek devoted paragraphs to his comments on the "big drive" in 1957 "to woo engineers with salaries, scenery and security," Rusch conducted the first known time-study, or survey, of football. His conclusions, published in the Scientific American in 1930 and subsequently applauded by such authorities as Princeton's Bill Roper and Notre Dame's Knute Rockne, showed that football fans are paying "at the rate of $24.25 per hour to watch college football." The reason for this seemingly exorbitant charge, as outlined by Rusch, was that the actual playing-time for a game amounted to the "astoundingly short interval of 12 minutes of action," in comparison with an elapsed game-time of some two hours and 20 minutes.

For his contributions to an infant industry that is playing an increasingly important role in the continued development of these United States; for his understanding of the problems confronting both management and labor; for strengthening this community's research traditions; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee for

INDUSTRIOUS SPRING

In Like a Lion, Just before the end of fall, 1956, a number of industrial plans were announced all at once — plans which supported the popular belief that a "solid city" is mushrooming between New York City and Philadelphia.
Then came winter, and no such news whatsoever. Now, with the advent of spring, the industrial planners are back at it again, giving Princetonians more than the robin's first chirp to herald the new season.

In order of size, if not significance, these were the week's developments in a nutshell.

(1) American Cyanamid Company, with a small but busy plant near the Penns Neck Circle and a name that is oft-associated with penicillin, picked up the option on 600 acres of coveted farmland along the Clarksville-Mercerville and Clarksville-Grover's Mill Roads, including easy access to the Pennsylvania Railroad.

(2) Socony Mobil Oil Company, after unravelling the red tape that led to the anticipated endorsement of a zoning amendment by Hopewell Township officials, took title to the 315-acre Stony Brook farm which it intends to use as the site of a basic research laboratory.

(3) Princeton University, reporting layout plans and basic interior design for its projected new Engineering Quadrangle, stressed a "radical" shift in emphasis—toward a scientific orientation, much in line with research developments taking place throughout the Princeton periphery.

(4) The Daystrom Company of Summit, N. J., anxious to locate an electronics plant in this area of more and more electronics plants, took another long (and promising) look at a tract of land on U.S. 1, across the highway from Princeton Computation Center, for which it now holds an option to buy.

For Chemical Experiments.
Though a public relations spokesman for Cyanamid's Princeton plant was not ready to say anything more than, "You will be the first to know when the deal is completed," there was no doubt in the minds of the four principal farm-owners involved in the big transaction, or West Windsor officials who have given the matter their blessing. "No money has been put down yet," was one comment, "but the deal is airtight."

According to those closest to the important purchase, the chemical company will use the land for agricultural experiments, which were cited as the basis for conjecture concerning some of the property last fall. Cyanamid is expected to load the area with different animals and plants for the purpose of determining how they react under changing conditions to various new fertilizers, sprays and other chemical products.

Four large farms are included in the 600-acre package—those on the Clarksville-Mercerville Road belonging to Jesse Coleman and Stuart L. Reed and those on the Clarksville-Grover's Mill Road belonging to Reeves Coleman and Robert M. Dilatush Jr. Also included are several lone houses and their small properties, owned by other residents of the area.

One member of the selling group said final settlement is not required for two months, though it may come sooner because the company apparently is anxious to begin experiments. The present owners will be obliged to move out four months after the deals culmination. No purchase price was mentioned, but it was felt to be "highly satisfactory," inasmuch as longtime residents are relinquishing handsome old farms for the sake of scientific progress.

Construction in Summer. Socony Mobil's acquisition of title consummated a purchase which had been pending since November.
New zoning clauses, permitting laboratories of the type proposed by the company, were the stumbling blocks, and these were finally cleared by Hopewell Planning Board and Township Committee members.

Construction of a brick laboratory building, in which to study the application of nuclear radiation to petroleum technology, is expected to start this summer. It will be located adjacent to the farm's large Georgian home.
Socony Mobil's proposed administration building, and will harmonize with it in architecture. The new zoning also will permit the construction, under certain conditions, of a nuclear research reactor in the future.

In making public the plans and design of the Engineering Quadrangle, to be situated west of University Field, between Olden and Charlton Streets, the trustees' committee on grounds and buildings for Princeton announced:
"Interdepartmental relations as currently existing and as they may develop will be assured.
Provision is made for known new subjects, such as nuclear engineering. Introduction of new rely predictable will also be feasible."

"The shift toward a scientific orientation is so radical that patchwork attention to the Schools physical plant is out of the question," according to Dr. Joseph C. Elgin, dean of the School of Engineering. Scientific aspects of engineering are developing rapidly and dramatically, he said.

Water a Problem. A spokesman for The Daystrom Company, here to survey land on the south side of U. S. 1, adjacent to the location of the Title Council of America's new research center, admitted his company likes the idea of being centrally situated in a region of similar plants. "Water is the major problem," he said, indicating negotiations will be effected if South Brunswick Township can help in this vital department.

Queries prompted by construction activity on the east side of the Clarkville-Mercerville Road queries which suspected more large-scale developments because Carliss-Wright is building directly across the road and the Cuyamid acquisition is just a stone's throw to the north — were satisfied this week by a West Windsor authority. "Oh, that's nothing big like the rest," she assured, "it's about the only convenient place left that Bell Telephone could not build a store; garage for its trucks."

PERSONALITIES

Mrs. Lowell Thomas Jr., 603 Princeton-Kingship Road, world traveler and photographer who this week followed in the tradition of fellow Princetonians Steven J. R. Frolich, Ashley Montagu and Mrs. Mary Etta Headley by reaching the $4,000 level on "The $64,000 Challenge" (Sundays, 10 p. m., channel 27) by naming six countries, other than Japan or Alaska, that extend into or touch the Arctic Circle (Greenland, Finland, Iceland, Norway, Sweden and the USSR). Meanwhile, Mrs. Herbert J. Kendall, 245 Elm Road, added her name to the winners' club by earning $400 on "The Tac-Dough" younger brother of "21," with her answers to questions about art, France and sundry subjects.

Jean - Pierre Meyer, general manager of Bamberger Princeton store, who this week received a framed citation from the Multiple Sclerosis Society for his outstanding service to that organization during its recent fund-raising festival here. Notice that the recipient provided an empty store at the Shopping Center for the festival, threw all of his available resources behind the program and worked tirelessly to see the effort succeed (it did), observers commented. "He's done an awful lot to make the Center part of the community."

Leslie C. Stratton, 59 Shady Brook Lane, who retires next week as national director of public relations for the Boy Scouts of America to accept a new position as secretary and director of the New York-headquartered Theodore Roosevelt Association. During Mr. Stratton's 21 years of service on behalf of scouting, the organization has more than quadrupled its 1936 membership of one million.

ROUND-UP

Princeton Business Association trustees, reporting more paid-up members than at any time in the past, are seeking the services of a part-time secretary, with applicants asked to see Leonard LaPlaca at Nassau Interiors . . . the first full meeting of the reorganized association is set for Wednesday, April 10, at 8 p. m. in the Nassau Tavern . . . PBA members, vitally interested in Borough negotiations for the downtown Public Service property, probably will have to wait for several weeks for further action . . . that's when Mayor Sturges returns to Princeton following the final leg of his sporadic Florida vacation . . . Borough planners, meanwhile, are working rapidly on the Trinity Church parking lot, to be installed largely by the municipality (everything but top surface), and already have ordered meters, pending anticipated approval of a formal ordinance at the next Council meeting.

On the streets where we live, various items of interest this week: For example, owners of a beloved Irish Setter, victim of another hit-and-run canine case, have urged — in particular that speeds along Rosedale Road be rigidly enforced before the victim is a child instead of a dog and — in general — that hit-and-run drivers be decent enough to stop and report the accident — Borough engineers have announced they are conferring with 27th class on road grade problems relative to the Bayard-John artery, and should be ready to accept the street's sewer bids next month . . . they will strive to save as many trees as possible alongside the link . . . and they have also written anew to state authorities, requesting blinker lights for student protection on Washington Road . . . Scott Lane, the Borough's newest street, has become the scene of frenzied excavation activity as Princeton Custom Homes prepares to erect the first of 17 planned subdivision homes . . . the progress is encouraging, but the lane-leveling has resulted in a muddy good show down the eastern end of Nassau Street.

In addition to their beautiful new edifice, Princeton's Roman Catholics will dedicate a magnificent new cross in ceremonies at St. Paul's this Sunday . . . featuring an eight-foot image of Christ, with an upright beam that measures 12 to 15 feet, the wooden masterpiece was carved for the church's main altar by Henry Beretta, noted New York sculptor . . . Gov. Meyer announced this week that the first "open house" for the public at Morven, for interior and exterior viewing, will be for Princetonians only from 3 to 5 p. m. on April 27 . . . Mercer County day will not come until June 8.

ACT II—ONE YEAR LATER: On the afternoon of March 19, 1956, more than a foot of snow blanketed the Princeton community following the heaviest late March storm on record. TOWN TOPICS photographer took the picture of skiers in action on the slopes above Brookaw Field. HOMES ENTERED Target: Armour Road. A daring daylight burglar, or burglars, who entered two homes in the Princeton neighborhood sometime last Thursday afternoon, was still unknown this week, despite the efforts of police investigations. Curiously, the so-far successful break-ins occurred while tree trimmers were busy at work nearby—in a good position to see most of the activity around them.

Reporting the burglaries, Sgt. Randolph Applegate and Patrolman Richard Panicaro of the Borough force said the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl W. Zemke, 19 Armour Road, was entered through a forced-open kitchen window, while entrance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Cooper, 1 Armour Road, was gained through a jimmied sitting window. They listed these missing articles: from the Zemke house, a lady's wrist watch, an antique gold brooch, an antique pearl ring and $25 in coins; from the Cooper residence, an antique amber necklace with matching earrings and the contents of a bank ($4.05).

Another series of Borough burglaries—this time, unsuccessful—was terminated in a special court session last week, with Township Magistrate Louis R. Gerber hearing the case. Lillie M. Smith of Trenton, a 19-year-old domestic employed in the home of Judge and Mrs. Clifford C. Bennett, 111 Bayard Lane, was sent to the Clinton State Reformatory for stealing an assortment of articles belonging to the county jurist and his wife.

According to Sgt. Robert J. Anderson and Patrolman James M. Kopliner, who signed six separate petty larceny complaints against the maid; she took clothing, jewelry and other personal and household items from the time her employment began last November until her recent arrest. The girl pleaded non vult to all six charges and will serve a total of 180 days, 30 for each count, in prison. All of the stolen articles were recovered at her home, police reported.

ACCIDENT REPORT

Four Hurt, One Dies. Separate accidents near Stony Brook last weekend injured four persons, all residents of Trenton, and resulted in one fatality.

Friday afternoon at 1:30, a motorcycle police said was operated by Sylvester Vinson, 25, with 20-year-old Rosell Anderson as a passenger crashed head-on into a car driven by John Dutton, 40, of Levittown, Pa. The accident took place on the Mercer Road bridge over Stony Brook.

Mr. Anderson died shortly after being admitted to Princeton Hospital, where he was rushed in the First Aid Unit ambulance. Mr. Vinson remains there in critical condition with a fractured skull.

Jean Courtney, 16-year-old Trenton girl, was injured Sunday afternoon near Stony Brook on Roadside Road when the horse she was riding ran into a car. The horse's head broke the windshield, Miss Courtney sustaining a gash in her right arm that required 15 stitches to close. The driver, a resident of Ocean Grove, was also treated at Princeton Hospital for minor lacerations of the face.

Miss Courtney's companion, 15-year-old Julie Paris of Trenton, was thrown from her horse when the accident occurred. She was admitted to Princeton Hospital for observation over night.

ROAD TO PROSPERITY

Not Road to Ruin. Perhaps spurred on by their recent announcement that the Applied Science Corporation of Princeton intends to build a new plant toward the Hightstown end of the Princeton-Hightstown Road, members of the Hightstown Area Chamber of Commerce have asked Mercer County's Freeholders to improve the road's condition. The Freeholders, in turn, acknowledging the request, this week released a detailed report on the status of the road, prepared by E. L. Mount, county engineer.

In 1949, the people using the Princeton-Hightstown Road, referred to it as the "Indian Trail," Mr. Mount stated. "At that time, there were only two stretches of this road that would accommodate present-day travel and they were that portion which was constructed by the State Highway, where the road overpasses the main line of the Pennsylvania Railroad, and the section adjacent to the east. This one-half mile of road was constructed by the county in 1941, extending from State Highway overpass to the Clarks-ville Road."

Continuing his report, the county engineer stated that in 1949, "the Mercer County Board of Freeholders took upon themselves the task of widening and reconstructing this road in such stretches as was economically feasible and subsequently enrich has endeavored to reconstruct some portion of it." The program has progressed well in the interim, he said, so that, of the road's 7.2-mile distance the Freeholders have reconstructed a total of 4 1/2 miles at a cost of $12,066.

Mr. Mount asserted that the board is well aware of the fact that the remaining 2.7 miles should be improved, but also noted that the county has under its jurisdiction 161 miles of highway, "many of which are as important to their areas in the county as is the Princeton-Hightstown Road to Hightstown." The job eventually will be completed, according to the engineer, though, at current prices, it will cost $44 per linear foot for construction due to necessary realignment, bridges, culverts and storm drains (total price tag: somewhere around $630,000 for 2.7 miles).

In its action-urging letter, the Hightstown Chamber members said, "We feel that this road is one of the most heavily travelled county roads in all of Mercer County. This highway not only carries numerous persons each day who commute to Princeton and Princeton Junction, but also many persons who are tourists and casual travellers."

The letter-writers informed the Freeholders "it is imperative that this main transportation artery be improved," both for the safety of those who use it daily and in behalf of the continuing growth of the area. They emphasized that there are many dangerous curves—between Princeton Junction and the site of the planned ASCOP plant four miles toward Hightstown—which must be eliminated through a straightening-out process.

UNITED FUND ELECTS

New Trustees Welcomed. The United Community Fund almost completely reorganized its complement of officers and committees at a meeting which drew the largest attendance in the history of the fund. Twenty-two new trustees elected at the annual meeting in February were welcomed.

The new officers are: John P. Poe, president; Raymond A. Bowers, first vice president; Thomas F. Huntington, second vice president; and George J. Adriance, assistant treasurer. Former officers continuing are Walter H. Scott, executive director; Miss Edna L. Van Schmus, assistant secretary; and Walter B. Jefferson, Jr., treasurer.

Statement of Policy

The complete text of two resolutions passed by the Borough Housing Authority on public housing and Urban Renewal is published on page 12 of this issue. The declarations present a detailed picture of past action and recommendations for the future in these two allied fields.

The Authority concurs with the Borough's Advisory Committee on Housing that the actual and immediate need is for 30—not 50—units, and defines the site on John Street where it feels the new homes should be built. Demolition of existing homes is not to exceed four.

The resolution on Urban Renewal lists six steps which might be considered as part of the proposed renovation program. Among them are: linking Wiggin Street with Bayard Lane via Jackson and "Avalon Road," and the creation of a site for a new post office.

Benson was named chairman of the budget and administration committee, with John C. Williams II, Thomas P. Cook, Mrs. J. T. Woodward, A. N. Lippman, Mr. Poe, Mr. Jefferson and Mrs. Adriance making up the rest of the committee.

The public relations committee is headed by Kenyon Kilborn with Bruce Bedford, Jr., Dan D. Coyle, Edgar Gemmell, Kenneth E. Hawthorne, Bernard Kilgore and Frederick Osborne as members. Miss Esther Dilworth, Mrs. N. Howell Furman and Mrs. Jan Rajchman were nominated to the board of the Council of Community Services.

NEW PARKING LOT

But No Help to Borough. Workmen started construction this week of a new 50-stall parking lot in Princeton Borough, but the additional, meterless space will not help solve the municipality's parking problems. The area, 155 feet by 180 feet, is being built to the rear and west of Morven, the governor's mansion, for use by officials visiting Gov. Meyner or state citizens taking advantage of one of Mrs. Meyner's scheduled "open houses."

Engineers representing the Department of Conservation and Economic Development, the Division of Planning and Development and the Bureau of Forestry, Parks and Historic Sites, which will pay the bill, discussed the lot

WELCOMING AN AUDIENCE: Mrs. Ruth Dorf, make-up expert, John F. Becker, director, and Peter G. Cook, president, three of those most responsible for the success of the Community Players' first production at the new Playmill, wait outside on opening night, greeting "first nighters." Some 60 or so showed up for "Amphitryon 38" that evening, but a crowd of 175-plus—first SRO in history for the Players—turned out Saturday. (Tiger Photo Service)

News Of The THEATRES

COMMUNITY PLAYERS

A healthy "New Look" There is something bright and shiny, happy and heartwarming, new and refreshing about the current serving of the Princeton Community Players. As a matter of fact, it is more than something—it is a lot of things, this healthy "new look" the Players have exposed. In short, the production of "Amphitryon 38" at the Playmill represents a truly worthwhile evening of experience for anyone interested in the future of amateur theatre in Princeton.

(Tickets for the remaining three performances of "Amphitryon 38," all reserved and all priced at a nominal $2, are still on sale at Bamberger's and the University Store, and also will be available at the Playmill box office on Alexander Street prior to each curtain. Per usual, the curtain is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. this Thursday, Friday and Saturday).

Perhaps the most striking new thing at the Playmill is the Playmill, the Players' long-term home.

It is clean and attractive, with ample audience space and good actors' accommodations. It is a remarkably changed building since the day several months ago when members of the amateur group started removing cobwebs and sweeping away the last remnants of the old mill. Its acoustics prove far better than expected, especially in combatting the near-by clackety-clack of the passing P&B train (good for four round-trips opening night).

Of course, Helen Van Zandt's imaginative, wide-open set, executed principally by Byron Keene, is another important "new look" factor, one which goes a long way toward assuring the overall success of the Players' end-of-winter offering. The design is colorful as well as functional and, to bring the gods within earshot and eyesight of a mortal audience, she has concocted a wonderful pink-cloud domain.

Newcomers New, Too, For "Amphitryon 38," two of the key performers, Tinka Crawford as Alkmena and Trevor Brown as Mercury, are delightful new additions to the Players' scene. Miss Crawford, a drama student who has acted elsewhere, is winning, relaxed and believable in a difficult role. Mr. Brown, on stage for the first time anywhere, is the surprise of the show, playing Jupiter's offspring and companion with poise, timing and startling conclusion.

Older—and sure — hands are on hand to solidify this premiere. John Becker's direction, evident throughout, is the cohesive factor that makes the show tick, and tick as well as possible. Florence Downer's costumes (loose beard notwithstanding) are exceptional, by bright and effective, while Peter Van Zandt's lighting adds much to the production. Irving Van Zandt as Jupiter and Stuart Duncan as Amphitryon, in two of the major roles, and Selby Jenny, in a memorable gown, and Lorin Zitsman, in a fine bit characterization, pace a generally capable cast with distinction.

But, alas, all that glitters is not gold at least. It is not at the Playmill. The play's the thing and, in this particular case, the —Continued on Page 6

MUSIC In Princeton

CONCERT CHORE HERE

Last in University Series. The American Concert Choir and Orchestra will appear at the last Princeton University concert of the season Tuesday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre. The choir and orchestra are directed by Margaret Hills.

The program will open with Randall Thompson's "Alleluia" and will include Haydn's choral masterpiece, "Missa Solemnis in B flat major," Bach's second Brandenburg concerto (F major), Mozart's "Te Deum," and Leon Janacek's "Rikada." The latter composition by one of the most famous Czech composers is based on popular children's songs from Eastern Europe.

The group is composed of 21 chorists, four soloists, and 17 instrumentalists. Since its first appearance in Princeton in 1950, the choir has been highly praised by critics and music lovers and has increased its activities steadily, so that it now has a yearly season of musical activity composed of that of the major American orchestras.

The concert has been chosen as the annual "Maria Prentice Memorial Concert," in honor of Mrs. William K. Prentice who for many years was a member of the Ladies' Auxiliary Committee and later of the University concert committee. Mrs. Prentice before her death raised a sum of money which was added to the Philena Forbes Fine Memorial fund and, together with the Jessie Peabody Frothingham fund, make it possible to bring to Princeton artists and musical organizations of the finest quality.

Tickets are available at the University Store and also at the box office of McCarter on the evening of the performance. The concert is the fourth and last in series I.

PIANO RECITAL SET

Jacobowitz to Perform. The Friends of Music will sponsor a recital Sunday afternoon at 3:30 in Clio Hall on the University campus by Ronald Jacobowitz, young American pianist. Mr. Jacobowitz, who has given concerts in New York and Chicago, is a graduate student of music history at Princeton.

The program will consist of the "Prelude in E minor, Opus 35," by Mendelssohn; "Partita in B flat major" by Bach; "Andante con variazioni in E minor" by Haydn; "Sonata in E flat major, Opus 7," by Beethoven; "Four Studies in the Form of a Canon for Pedal Point" by Schumann; "Sonata, Opus 11," by Alban Berg; and "Andante spianato ed Grande Polacca brillante" by Chopin.

The concert is open to the public without charge, as are all such events sponsored by the Friends of Music.

FOUR-SCHOOL FESTIVAL

Youthful Musicians to Play. A four-school festival of music will be held Thursday evening, April 25, in the new gymnasium of Princeton High School. Four Princeton schools will participate in the event.

Members of the orchestras, bands and choirs of Witherpoop School, Valley Road School, Princeton Country Day School and Miss Fine's School will take part in the concert. The orchestra will be composed of 70 children, mainly from Witherpoop and Valley Road, while the band will consist of about 80 students.

Mrs. Virginia Switten, director of instrumental music at Valley Road, and Sylvan Friedman, director at P.C.D. and the Borough Elementary schools, will alternate as conductors. Miss Amy Kleckner, Miss Jean Maxwell, and Miss Jane Heary will take turns conducting the mixed choir, which will be made up of students from Miss Fine's, Witherpoop and Valley Road schools.

play is inferior to the rest of the production. It is not as amusing as the original author and his adapter hoped; it misses badly in its spoofing on many occasions; it starts faster than it finishes and, most unfortunately, it commences to seem too long by the fourth time the PJ&B shuttles by.

To be sure, there are many clever ideas and a few clever lines in "Amphitruon 38." But they are ideas and lines that call for Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne in peak efforts to rock the house, and then the rocking might not be so rocking. The Players take rough odds, of their own choosing; yet, they can ask rightfully for community support and claim success because they have done so much with so little.

MCCARTER THEATRE

A Hatful of Tickets. When the managing directors of McCarter bring the stirring hit, "A Hatful of Rain," here for three performances on April 3 and 4, they will not only be trying to buck the usual mid-week doldrums but also be offering their first Thursday matinee since joining forces with the University-affiliated theatre. They realize Wilmington will enjoy the best scheduling, what with Friday and Saturday performances, though they feel the high caliber of the show should do the trick in Princeton, despite the days of the week involved.

After less than a week on public sale, tickets for the two evening presentations of "Hatful" were going well at the McCarter box office (Princeton 1-5515). Plenty of seats for the "thrill" matinee—scaled from a top price of $3.25 down to $1.50—are still to be had, and sponsors of the Princeton run will be watching their progress closely to determine the advisability of such a mid-week endeavor, even for a known Broadway product.

"Pied Piper" Due Monday. The Traveling Playhouse will present "The Pied Piper," a play based on Robert Browning's famous children's poem, on Monday at 3:30 p.m. at McCarter Theatre. This is the third offering of The Children's Entertainment Committee of the E.T.A.

The play will be performed by a professional cast, with music and dance playing an integral part of the production. The group played here last year for sold-out houses. The show is geared especially to the 6 to 12-year-olds.

Tickets at 50c, 85c and $1.50 can be bought by writing The Children's Entertainment Committee, 10 Princeton Avenue, or by calling 1-5772 between 9:30 and 11:30 a.m. Thursday, Friday and Monday. Tickets will also be available on the day for the performance at the boxoffice from 1 p.m.

THEATRE INTIME

Readings Return. After an absence of three years, student-faculty drama and poetry readings will return to Princeton University's Murray Theatre this Friday and Saturday. Both evenings, at 8:30, Theatre Intime will present a group of poetry readings and a stage reading of Eugene O'Neill's "Bound East for Cardiff," with no admission charge.

Produced for Intime by Richard A. Lukins, James Kraft and Daniel Hamill, the program will consist of two parts: (1) Readings from the "Songs of Solomon," Chaucer, Joyce's "Finnegan's Wake," a group of Negro poems, Yeats, Frost, 19th Century poetry and sacred and profane poems of the Renaissance and Reformation. (2) The one-act O'Neill play, featuring Dean of the College, Gordon, Professors Alan Downer and Horton Davies and undergraduates James Harder, Hank Stackpole, Revue Parker, Heves Agnew and co-producer Hamill.

Eurythmy Performance Planned. The first Princeton performance of Eurythmy, a new art of stage movement, will take place Monday at 8:30 p.m. in the Princeton High School auditorium. Two European Eurythmy performers will appear, accompanied by reciters and musicians.

The artists, Helen Trives and Karl van Oord, both have had several years' training in the main school of eurythmy. The reciters are Eleanor Trives and Bettina Kroth. The program will include poems read in English, German, old Greek and French and will range from excerpts from an Egyptian book and an ancient Celtic rite, to humorous pieces including a fable of La Fontaine. Among the musical pieces will be compositions by Bach, Schubert, Mozart and Brahms.

Eurythmy was created at the time of the first world war by Rudolf Steiner, an Austrian philosopher, who called it "visible speech" and "visible song." The artists interpret with the body and particularly with the arms and hands, the sounds of music and speech.

Certain movements correspond to every vowel and consonant and to tones on the musical scale. Veils are attached to the artist's wrists and accentuate the movements made.

Marmalade and Ashes. You may dispose of both through the medium of a few small accessories at Herman's Gift Shop, 164 Witherspoon. The marmalade comes in a little glass and gold jar that's part of a breakfast set. A matching jam jar balances it on the other end, and in the middle of the set are four wire slots for your toast. All in brass, chipper as an early-morning robin.

You may also buy a similar, matching set that holds relish, mayonnaise, ketchup and mustard, or a shrimp set with little jigger-sized glasses for sauce and picks, and bowls for the shrimp. Plus a final set that consists of a pair of snack bowls that share a brass rack.

Ashes may be flicked into a flat, rimmed ceramic ashtray in pale grey with cat or dog in kindergarten-style black line drawing. These are $1 each, and about four inches across.

A tribe of free-form ashtrays has low relief figures that turn out to be cave men dragging women around by the hair, a couple of savage reindeer fighting it out and some abstractions that are a welcome relief, if you'll pardon the pun, from all the violence. Other low-relief ashtrays are soft teal green, shaped in ovals and held within an oval cigarette urn. On these six ashtrays you'll find a praying mantis, a dragonfly, and a beetle of some sort—different bug for each one. The set is $5.95.

Fruitwood makes several new wooden pieces at Herman's. There's a fruit bowl with a sphere of cork in the middle, pierced by

Some Cookie

The town's most esoteric cookie jar appears this week on the shelves of Herman's Gift Shop, 164 Witherspoon. Personally, we would keep it in the living-room and let the crumbs fall where they may in some old coffee can out in the kitchen. You may want to arrange doorknobs in it, for all we know.

It is a modern ceramic piece, a cylinder that tapers gently toward the top. The biggest part of the jar is vertically striated, like plywood, and colored a light cocoa brown. Above the ridged part is a smooth band of pottery in pale cocoa speckled with darker specks. The top—and how many times have you broken the pottery top of a cookie jar?—is a sensible disk of dark polished walnut with a peg for a handle.

The jar is capacious and its mouth wide enough for enumerable small after-school hands. Better be careful what you put in it, though; this aristocrat would probably reject anything but your richest butter cookie.

four stubby little fruit knives ($5.95). A pair of flat wooden tongs ($1.50) has as many uses as you can think of. A round dip dish rests in a little wooden jacket pierced for toothpicks.

An artist's palette (no, Jacqueline, not "palette") has its own dip dish on one side, with colored toothpicks to go along. Natural wooden (light wood) candy dishes are painted bright red on the outside, and labeled "Candy" on the inside.

Bouffant Buffet. Pick and choose from the appetizing and irresistible collection of bouffant petticoats assembled by Edith's Corset Shop, Chambers Street, for spring and summer dresses. The sophisticated reds and blacks of winter have given way to frosted pastels and white, like the three-layer petticoat in blue with nylon taffeta, then horsehair, then a final outside layer of nylon net embroidered with lavish sprays of white flowers ($12.95).

A plink nylon net has inserts painted with roses, and a confection of white lace and nylon in three layers has a full 14 inches of lace before it gets around to the nylon top. Even white cotton plisse is dressed up: it's bottom ruffle has been lined with nylon net.

Back giving you trouble? Edith has a new backless bra that is nothing but narrow white straps and some strategic lace. It ties around your waist, rather like a delicate harness ($1.95). If you want more, but still no back, there is a backless all-in-one girdle arrangement with straps and a back that's bare to the waist ($18.50).

Gowns for spring and summer are dacron-cotton-nylon like the waist-length gown with double two-inch ruffles of permanent pin-pleats and lace. There is a puffed-sleeve peignoir, and a matching half slip and baby-doll style gown that comes with ruffled panty.

Something more tailored has lace but no ruffles, and straps that are lace over ribbon. A yellow gown has satin ribbon straps and tiny pink and green embroidered flowers spread over its plain yoke.

Lily of France enhances the spring scene with Enhance Junior, a girdle (or panty-girdle) in white, pink or blue, bounced off with a nylon net ruffle. This junior edition is $7.95, compared with—Continued on Page 8

(Mar. 21-23) combines once again the surefire mixture of Walt Disney's talented organization and Fess Parker's personality. In this edition, connected in the usual grand Technicolor manner, Fess still looks like Davy Crockett, but he's really "Doc" Grayson, a medico turned intrepid frontiersman. He still sings like Davy, too, as he warbles "Wrangle Wrangle," a ditty which already has made the nation's jukeboxes jingle jangle.

The setting is different, however, for this time Mr. Disney's protégé finds himself en route to Oregon, tangleing with the Sioux and Pawnee Indians before leading a band of pioneer families, virago 1844, to their Northwest destination. Thanks to some slick direction, helio-sable acting and the wonderful Disney touch, an otherwise routine Western becomes a spirited and colorful production. Aude, thanks to the Playhouse management, Princeton youngsters are going to get an extra chance to see it at 10 a.m. this Saturday.

Oh, Men! Oh, Women! (Mar. 24-26) takes a stage play by Edward Chodorov, mixes it with screenplay, direction and production by sly Nunnally Johnson, adds acting by veteran comedians Dan Daily, Ginger Rogers and David Niven, spices it with Cinemascope and color by DeLuxe—and, perhaps because too many cooks can spoil the soup, comes out as a not-a picture which hardly rates one exclamation point, much less two. It's all about psychoanalysis, poking light-hearted fun at a doctor and a variety of patients, but the jokes and situations really aren't as funny as they might be, or as demanding as the performers.

Indeed, since the original play proved only a mild success on Broadway, maybe it is a case of the basic ingredients being a bit sour, and not actually a case of too many cooks after all. Oh, well, there are a few bright scenes, plus a bright surprise in the person of Tony Randall, who is already well-known for his TV work and stage success in such hits as "Inherit the Wind."

It's New To Us

$15 for the senior member of the Enhance family.

A New Line. Coasting about for fishing equipment, we came upon Tiger Auto and its well-stocked pool.

Flick up a rod for 98c or $25, and anything in between for casting, spinning, fly fishing, salt-water fishing. Buy a foul-proof reel, close face, that can't twist (about $15—there are several prices). Scoop up a trout with a new trout-fishing net attached to lightweight wood that has a convenient measure on its handle.

A little round box has several pie-shaped sections and a transparent lid with one wedge cut out of it. Swirl of the cut-out part over the section that holds the fly you want. Very simple.

You may pick up a fishing license at Tiger, by a fishy line, and a trout stamp. Resident and non-resident licenses both available.

And speaking of licenses, Tiger is now licensed to sell pistols and you may peer at the store's gun collection through a securely locked cupboard. How about a Ruger, single six .22 caliber revolver? It's a beautiful, precise machine, meticulous as a watch. You can pay $63 or $37.

Want to do it the hard way? Here's Black Hawk archery equipment, with bows from $10.95 to $65. (A hunter bagged two elephants with bow and arrow recently, but Tiger makes no guarantees).

The complete lines of both Wilson and Reisch baseball equipment have been added to the Tiger shelves. These include gloves and bats. Tru-play still provides bats, and you can buy them for 49c or $1, or half-way between.

You're familiar with the whiffle ball, of course; the soft plastic ball with slots that let in the air and slow down the speed of the ball so it can be used in a house. The 1957 model is softball size.

Tether baseball or tennis is a ball on a string on a stick, and two people playing. "A" holds the stick and "throws" the ball for "B" to hit. The string means that "A," who is probably somebody's decrepit old father, doesn't have to run after the ball. Very useful device.

Golfers may well find a use for rubber or aluminum putting cup for indoors or out, and their small sons may like the idea of three small clubs and a putting cup and ball, all for $1.95 in a set.

Home Plate. Gustavberg of Sweden produces for Princeton Gourmet some rock porcelain dishes with good-natured colors blending each oyster white dish. Different colored borders trim each dish, so that a whole place setting of five pieces is a pleasant rainbow—not gaudy, of course; this is Sweden, after all.

For example, the dinner plate is encircled with two narrow bands of grey, the bread and butter with pink, the saucer with turquoise and its saucer with champagne. Five-piece setting is $4.25, and there are also platters ($3 size), pitchers (ditto), tiny sugar and creamer for a breakfast tray and some good substantial beer mugs, gender male.

Royal Copenhagen sends its "Tranquebar" pattern, which is a lovely deep delphinium blue floral pattern on ice-blue. "Orange" is a russet-orange basket-weave border around white plates.

Two other Copenhagen china patterns are pastels: a sea-foam green with white, and powder blue with a trace of white border. Georg Jensen carries this ware, too, as you probably know, but Nassau and Harrison Street is so much closer. You may buy the Royal Copenhagen for $5 to $10 a piece—setting, and it comes in open stock.

Heaven Knows, Mr. Allison (Mar. 27-April 2) deals with a touchy subject in poignant and often beautiful terms. In it, Deborah Kerr, cast as a knowing and winning nun, and Robert Mitchum, portraying a hard-boiled, soul-searching Marine, are thrown together on a Pacific island—alone—during World War II.

They do a lot of thinking and talking together, in some lengthy scenes that are formulated interestingly and in good taste, and they are sent scurrying and foraging together in a series of pulsating sequences with the Japanese hot on their heels. John Huston, who has performed such memorable directing chores in behalf of "The African Queen," is back in the groove again, this time concentrating almost exclusively on his two principals in an island setting rather than the Dark Continent. All in all, it is a stimulating film, featuring CinemaScope and color along with strong acting and directing.

THE GARDEN

Above Us The Waves (Mar. 21-23) is a typical British war film, shot in stark black-and-white for added realism, with some better-than-average British actors (John Mills, John Grogan, Donald Sinden, James Robertson Justice), Frodo by the J. Arthur Rank organization, in its usual polished style, this solid English thriller deals tersely and exciting with specialized vital assignment of several pint-sized submarines, dispatched to deal a "must" knock-out blow against the pride of the Nazis' Navy in World War II. Suspense is plentiful, and the action is arm's.

Richard III (Mar. 25-30) arrives in Princeton on the first anniversary of its widely-acclaimed coast-to-coast TV presentation, still glowing—and boasting the reputation of one of the best pictures of 1956. Conceived in the lavish tradition of Sir Laurence Olivier, star, director and producer, this film contains the color, pageantry and quality which marked his work in "Henry V" and "Hamlet," but it is also better cinematheatre due to Sir Laurence's decision to risk the ire of scholars by re-arranging and re-writing Shakespeare to suit the movie masses. Though Shakespeare is still credited as the film's dramatist, the Olivier touch is evident from start to finish, and the touch is as golden as ever. Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Sir John Gielgud and Sir Ralph Richardson carry out the interpretation smoothly and efficiently, proving the star with all the support he needs for a well-paced story. Even for those who watched the uncut TV version, a trip to the Garden is in order because Technicolor and VistaVision afford a completely different concept of the whole.

with Borough Engineer I. Russell Riker before starting actual work. "They agreed to comply strictly with our zoning requirements," Mr. Riker commented, "and shrubs will be planted all around to shield the area. The Borough will cooperate by providing drainage to Boudinot Street."

University to Get $3,500,000. Princeton University will eventually receive the bulk of an estimated $3,500,000 estate belonging to the late David Mahany '07 of Greenwich, Conn. The bequest is one of the largest in the University's history.

Mr. Mahany, who died last November 25, designated in his will that his alma mater should receive the balance of his estate upon the death of his widow, Mrs. Georgianna Mahany. The funds are now held in trust for her benefit.

Described by University President Harold W. Dodds as "wonderfully loyal and an active alumnus who delighted in his service to Princeton," Mr. Mahany was chairman of the board of A. G. Cross Companies in New York and a member of the Graduate Council at the time of his death. He was closely associated with the management of the Princeton Inn and was one of the original contributors to the building which he held until his 1953 retirement.

Driver Loses License. A conviction on a charge of driving while intoxicated cost William Day, 16 Jackson Street, his driving privileges for two years. Magistrate Louis R. Gerber, substituting in borough court for Magistrate Paul R. Muzzo, also imposed the mandatory $225 fine.

Use of obscene language brought a charge of disorderly conduct against Henry Owens, Jr., 14 Quarry Street and a fine of $105. Judge Gerber also imposed a suspended 30-day sentence in the county workhouse.

Drivers fined included Irene P. Bassett, Rosedale Road, and Gwendoline Hognet, Carter Road, speeding, $25; Yetta Glickman, 24 Broadripple Drive, and Alvin I. Bainbridge, Rosedale Road, speeding, $10; R. E. Dodson, 85 Moore Street, passing a school bus while unloading, $15; Bertha Beaufort, Rosedale Road, speeding, $15; and B. W. Bull, R.D. 1, Skillman, passing a "stop" sign, $12.

Birth List. Princeton Hospital reported 19 births to area residents last week. Ten were boys and nine were girls.

Sons were born to: Mr. and Mrs. Chester Crestowski, PennLyn Road, Princeton Junction; Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Sanders, Mill Road, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. Paul C. P. Rose, 92 Clover Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Jessie Shephard, Dey Road, Cranbury; Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Polin, 45 Linden Lane; Mr. and Mrs. Gardner W. Munro, 345

REPORT TO CITIZENS OF THE BOROUGH OF PRINCETON ON STATUS OF PUBLIC HOUSING AND URBAN RENEWAL

Resolution adopted by the Housing Authority of the Borough of Princeton at its regular meeting on March 13, 1957

RE: PUBLIC HOUSING

RESOLVED:

That the Housing Authority of the Borough of Princeton make and publish the following policy determination in regard to its request for fifty additional units of low-cost housing:

- (1) That we express to the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Housing our thanks for their recommendations, contained in their letter to Mayor Sturges under date of December 13, 1956;
- (2) That we concur in their finding that, on the basis of applications presently on file with the Housing Authority, the actual immediate need does not exceed 50 additional units;
- (3) That we concur in their recommendation that these units be constructed, if possible, along the east side of John Street, from the Borough line to Lytle Street and adjoining the present Hageman Homes, thus utilizing the land presently occupied by the Borough garage and the wading pool, and keeping demolition of homes to a minimum, not to exceed four structures (indicating, parenthetically, that the third site included in their recommendation, the present parking lot on the corner of Clay and Witherspoon Streets, being a part of the Hageman Homes, is legally unavailable);

(4) That a careful survey of room requirements of the present tenants of the Hageman Homes, and of applicants apparently eligible for additional units when these are constructed, has convinced us that the primary need is for apartments of relatively large size, to relieve existing overcrowding and accommodate deserving families, and that therefore at least half of the 25 to 30 additional units to be constructed should contain three or more bedrooms;

(5) That we confirm our previous instructions to the architect, to design structures to contain 25 to 30 apartment units (of which at least half are to contain three or more bedrooms), three stories high, harmonizing in appearance with the Hageman Homes, to be located, if possible, along the east side of John Street between Lytle Street and the Borough line, and involving as little demolition of homes as is consistent with these stipulations;

(6) That we advise the Mayor's Advisory Committee that restriction of the area to be acquired in conformity with the spirit of their recommendations, will seriously limit the area which will be available for parking and playgrounds in or near the new units; and request their advice as to possible ways of providing additional space for these purposes;

(7) That we reserve the balance of the 50 units already approved by the Federal authorities (that is, 20 to 25 units), for possible later construction, if eligible families make application for them within the period before a final decision must be announced;

(8) And that we transmit copies of this policy determination to the Mayor, to each member of Borough Council, to the Borough Engineer, the Borough Planning Board, and the Zoning Board of Adjustment; also, to each member of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Housing, with expression of our thanks as mentioned above; and also, to local newspapers, for the information of the community we serve.

REPORT TO CITIZENS OF THE BOROUGH OF PRINCETON ON STATUS OF PUBLIC HOUSING AND URBAN RENEWAL

Resolution adopted by the Housing Authority of the Borough of Princeton at its regular meeting on March 13, 1957

RE: URBAN RENEWAL

RESOLVED:

That the Housing Authority of the Borough of Princeton make and publish the following policy determination in regard to its plans for Urban Renewal in the area between Hulish Street and the Borough line:

(1) That we recognize it to be the general consensus of opinion, both of residents of the affected area and of informed citizens throughout our community, that it would be altogether undesirable and inappropriate to contemplate extensive demolition and reconstruction within this area, an opinion with which Borough authorities and we ourselves are in full agreement;

(2) That we have known that, ever since we reached this decision last summer and rejected the drastic proposals submitted by the firm of professional redevelopment consultants, it has been our basic concern to determine whether any alternative (or possible) course of action would recommend itself to us as desirable and appropriate, and would earn the approval of the Borough authorities, of informed citizens throughout our community, and of residents of the area affected;

(3) That we have known the fact that, in an endeavor to arrive at the most satisfactory solution to this problem, we have consulted repeatedly with Borough authorities, with the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Housing, with representatives of the committee formed by residents of the affected area, with representatives of the Federal government interested in the possibility of constructing at the edge of the area a new post-office fully adequate to the present and anticipated needs of the community, and with representatives of such other interested parties as the Board of Education and Princeton Municipal Improvement;

(4) That we have known that, in order to accomplish this program of consultation and allow all affected parties ample opportunity to confer among themselves and to offer constructive suggestions, we have extended the original nine months allotted to this preliminary phase to eighteen months, which will run on March 31, 1957; and that we are thus faced with the necessity of making an immediate decision, either to abandon all efforts to undertake an Urban Renewal program or to request a final three-month extension, assuring the Federal authorities that an acceptable program will be forthcoming by June 30;

(5) That we declare it to be our considered judgment, based on all the information available to us, that such an acceptable program can and should be prepared within the next three months, based firmly on the following considerations:

(a) That the area as a whole, though legally classifiable as "blighted," is not in fact preponderantly blighted, but is a composite area, including many homes and other buildings in good condition; many in fair condition, susceptible to renovation and improvement if adequate funds were made available on reasonable terms; and some in poor condition, the removal of which would contribute materially to the improvement of the area as a whole, by eliminating blighted spots which might be expected to lead to the deterioration of adjacent neighborhoods;

(b) That all homes and other buildings now in good condition should if possible be left untouched, in the possession of their present owners;

(c) That the cooperation of the FIA be secured to provide funds on reasonable terms for the owners of homes and other buildings, now in fair condition to improve the condition and appearance of their properties;

(d) That properties now in poor condition be surveyed through an immediate house-to-house survey, and be individually studied to determine whether they can be adequately rehabilitated at reasonable cost (as required by the Housing Authority and replaced);

(e) That the Housing Authority restrict, where possible, its use of its Urban Renewal powers to the acquisition of the properties now in such poor condition that they cannot be rehabilitated, and to the implementation of public improvements within the area, in conformity with appropriate government authorities;

(6) That we transmit copies of this policy determination to the Mayor, and to each member of Borough Council, to the Borough Engineer, the Borough Planning Board, the Zoning Board of Adjustment, and the Borough Board of Education, for their information and comment;

(7) That we transmit copies to each member of the Mayor's Advisory Committee on Housing, requesting their concurrence in our recommendation that they consider presently blighted or potential sources of neighborhood blight, and advise their advice as to which, if any, of the following list of possible public improvements should be undertaken by us in an Urban Renewal program:

(a) Provision of a street linking Wiggins Street to Avalon Road, thus providing the long-sought through street parallel to Nassau Street;

(b) Provision of additional playground space near the Quarry Street school, fulfilling legal requirements which the Board of Education must comply with;

(c) Widening John Street for two-way traffic, without demolishing any homes or other buildings which are presently in good or fair condition;

(d) locating a new post office building on Witherspoon Street between Hulish and Jackson Streets, thus freeing the present post office for possible use as a public library;

(e) Providing play space other than that needed at the Quarry Street school, and in particular replacing the wading pool located at the proposed site for low-cost housing on John Street at Lytle Street;

(f) Constructing additional units (reserved from the 50 already approved, of which only 25 to 30 are presently to be constructed) of public low-cost housing for families displaced by the demolition of substantial homes and those which must be demolished if a realignment of Jackson Street is effected;

(g) Any other improvements consistent with our stated aims which the Advisory Committee decides are in the community interest;

(8) That we transmit copies to the committee representing the residents of the affected area, to the church located in the area, and to Princeton Municipal Improvement, and to the local newspapers, inviting constructive suggestions to be made as promptly as possible, in order that they may be considered and, if approved be incorporated in our final report, which we hope to have ready by the end of June;

(9) And that we transmit a copy to the Federal authorities, together with a request for a final extension and a corresponding budget revision.

CLOSED MONDAY

SWEET TOOTH = SWEET THOUGHTS: Mrs. Reverta Armstrong, a top-notch employee at the Nassau Tavern, thinks her maid's job is fine, but would rather be working downstairs in the hotel's pantry. Why? She loves those rich desserts. Why not? Too much pressure down below. For a variety of other Question of the Week responses, read elsewhere on this page. (Town Topics Photo by Alan Richards)

Question of the Week

(Readers of Town Topics are invited to suggest timely or interesting queries of a local, national, international or irrelevant nature for Question of the Week).

Question: If you weren't busy with your present occupation, what would you like to be doing?

Location: Around town.

George Wiebusch, 99-Alexander Street, clerk at the Princeton Inn: Furthering my education — in the field of atypical or retarded children. I conducted and enjoyed private tutoring with handicapped youngsters before coming here, and certainly would like to do it again. I changed occupations for the financial consideration involved, but, for humanitarian and interest reasons, I would prefer to do other work. My hours right now are too confused even to think about working at my avocation.

Mrs. Simone Leary, 191 Jefferson Road, secretary: Plenty of things! Though I would probably have to divide them into the ones I think I would be capable of and the ones I would like to do but probably couldn't. I like my job quite much. But I suppose, if I could choose something else without practical considerations, it would ideally be something connected with art and beauty, with being creative, constantly challenging and giving you a feeling of achievement when you have met the challenge — and something which isn't routine.

Richard K. Edwards, 366 Nassau Street, engraver: I'm doing something that I like very much right now — engraving trophies, making plastic signs and so forth — after retiring from RCA after twenty-two years there. But I think I'm going to do what I'd most like to this summer — a round-trip to California. I plan to take a month and a half, visiting my daughter in San Diego and two sons in Michigan, one of them at one of the state's largest lakes. Also, I'm anxious to see some of our national parks. When you're busy raising nine children, you don't get a chance for such a trip until they're all raised. Well, they're raised — and I'm tired!

Tony Lane Jr., Hightstown, manager-bartender of the Apple-garth Inn: Me? I'd like to be a jet pilot, but four children tie me down — right down to good old terra firma. I'd get a real kick out of flying to Paris for lunch, Italy for dinner and back home for breakfast. It would be great to taste the different foreign dishes right where they make them.

Mrs. Josephine Phillips, Penns Neck, IBM key-puncher: I don't know if I would want to do anything else. I am very happy with my job as an IBM key-puncher at Educational Testing Service, and my life is filled by my family and friends, so that I really wouldn't wish it otherwise.

Mrs. Reverta Armstrong, Trenton, maid at the Nassau Tavern: Believe it or not, pantry work is my answer. I enjoy making up all those wonderful desserts, with all the fancy trimmings — that's what I did before I came to Princeton. And, before that, I used to cook in Georgia, but no one cooks like Georgians up here. I took my present job because it's a little more relaxed — less pressure. If it wasn't for this factor, my next choice would be taking care of babies — I just love them.

Abraham Wendroff, Trenton, salesman at Harry Ballo's: I would like to be a farmer. That's what I wanted to be when I was young, but now, of course, I'll never be one. I would like to live on a farm in my older years, though.

"WE COVER THE EARTH!" Though this may sound much like a paint slogan—an appropriate pitch in view of the gentlemen pictured—it's an equally appropriate line for Princeton's pollsters, who actually go everywhere to get their questions answered. Here, one of them seeks information from John J. Grier (left) and A. D. Baldwin, 25-year veterans of Princeton University's maintenance department. For an article which lets the pollsters do some answering rather than asking, see this page. (Photo by Alan Richards)

Topics Of The Town

FROM POLL TO POLL

Ask Me Another. If housewives decide to beat the high cost of coffee by leaving out that "one for the pot," what happens to coffee sales? What's the story of labor unions and politics? How do shopping centers affect buying habits, and if two men run for the Presidency, who's going to win?

Asking questions is big business in Princeton. There are almost a dozen firms here with world-wide reputations in the field of question and analysis. In fact, there are so many that Princetonians sometimes have trouble keeping them straight, so in the interests of public service and enlightenment, Town Topics presents a brief summary of each one. (The list includes only the opinion and attitude research firms, not the research laboratories.)

Curiously enough, although these organizations have made Princeton the public opinion capital of the world, so to speak, they have relatively few employees here. Slightly less than 300 people work for the 11 companies. A great deal of basic research, of course, is carried out by part-time interviewers living in every state of the nation.

AUDIENCE RESEARCH, 53 Bank Street, was started by George Gallup in 1939 to find out what people thought about movies. Now more diversified, ARI studies the characteristics of people who belong to the Book of the Month Club, analyzes the readership of magazines and asks people what they think of television programs (but not television commercials).

BENSON AND BENSON, 33 Witherspoon, was founded in 1938 as a market, opinion and consumer research firm. It was B&B research that learned how American housewives had caused a 15% slump in coffee sales, merely by brewing a cup or two less. (Cue: the country's puzzled coffee roasters.)

Benson and Benson has also explored the effects of shopping centers on established local stores. Its researchers have tested the believability of ads or the effectiveness of a new kind of packaging for such clients as Ford, Dixie Cups, Readers' Digest and Parker Pen. At the industrial level, B&B sends interviewers to find out how dealers feel about their company, or how a manufacturer of heavy industry lines up against his competitors in terms of research and sales. These industrial projects have been increasing rapidly in recent years.

GALLUP POLL, 53 Bank, is really The American Institute of Public Opinion. Formed in 1935, the Gallup Poll measures public opinion on various issues of the day and sends its results to 120 daily papers for publication.

Using a scientifically selected sample of the population, the Poll finds out what people think about school segregation, the role of airpower, defense spending, or whatever issue or foreign policy is burning at the moment.

Gallup predicted the 1956 Eisenhower victory within 1.7% of the actual vote.

GALLUP AND ROBINSON, 53 Bank, 15 Chambers and 32 Nassau, was started by George Gallup and Claude E. Robinson in 1948 because they wanted to try their new "impact method" for determining whether or not an ad registers on people's minds. G&R researchers ask, "Is an ad effective? Does it move people to act?" Their chief interest in measuring the quality of an ad (as against a quantitative approach).

Using "unaided recall," G&R gets readers to remember on their own what has impressed them in an ad; using "aided recall," G&R nudges a reader and asks, "What did you think of this?" Many interviews are held only 24 hours after a television program, and the viewers' verbatim comments are carefully—Continued on Page 21

TEAM TAKES SHAPE

First Ball Game March 30. Because he must work under a variety of difficult conditions, a baseball coach has a particularly trying time sorting out candidates. If the weather is cold or wet, he looks over his charges indoors, where they obviously never play. If the sun is shining, he hopes the temperature will be warm enough to prevent a rash of stiff arms; if it's any day but Saturday, the pressure of academic duties is likely to keep his squad busy during the best part of the afternoon.

Last week, for example, the thermometer one day was close to 80. Of a squad of 40 candidates, just 11 had no lab, lectures or classes between 2:30 and 4 o'clock. Eddie Donovan, beginning his year as head baseball coach, was taking these handicaps in stride last week because he's used to them—but he can't make rounding a team into shape for the Ivy League pennant chase easier.

On Saturday afternoon of last week, for example, the soft-spoken Holy Cross alumnus, who has been here since he served on the staff of the Naval Training School during the last war, had a particularly busy time of it. He had no less than eight catchers and 15 pitchers whom he wanted to see in action while the rest of the players took batting practice.

It was warm enough on Brookav Field when the long session began at 1:15, but by the time the last pitch had been thrown, the air was chill and long shadows were replacing sunshins. Two weeks were left before the opening game and much work was left to be done but at least mid-March weather had been much warmer than last year's late winter snows.

HOCKEY CAPTAIN: Harry Rulon-Miller of 6 Newlin Road has been elected captain of the Princeton hockey team for 1957-58. Son of Mr. and Mrs. Summer Rulon-Miller, he has been the Tigers' leading scorer for the past two seasons.

Six Veterans Back. Donovan has a mixture of established veterans and promising sophomores from whom to choose as he shapes plans that he hopes will take the Tigers one step higher than the second-place finish they achieved in 1956. Behind the plate, he'll go with Captain Ed McMullan, a two-year veteran who handles his pitchers well and has a good arm. Hopes are that he will raise his batting average above the .200 level where it was most of last year.

Leigh Ford, veteran right-hander who posted a great .38 earned run average in league action as a junior, is the ace of the staff. He'll be backed primarily by junior Ed Seaman, a sophomore who had a 3-0 mark as a sophomore; and two promising sophomores, Herm Bell was 5-1 as a freshman and can hit, while 6-5 Joe Burns also shows signs of better than average ability.

Capl Belz, leading scorer on the basketball team, is the top choice for first base, with last year's freshman captain, Gene Mignogna, the probable pick at second. Mignogna not only gets good wood on the ball but at 5-5 is small enough so that he should draw many a walk from opposing pitchers. He's a likely bet for the leadoff spot in the batting order. Larry Durante, regular shortstop last year as a junior, is the probable choice there, with third base to get the two-plateau treatment for the first few games. Dale Cuto, last year's choice at the hot corner, is good with the glove but hit only .125 on the season. Sophomore Gene Lecky will have a shot at the job to see if he can bolster the Tigers' incredibly anemic batting average of a mere .193.

Two outfield positions, left and center, will go to last year's holdovers, Tom Morris and John Wert unless unexpected hitting ability develops to dislodge one of them. The right field spot is wide open, with Donovan undecided who will fill the spot vacated by Tom Quay. The latter, first baseman Bill Agnew and second baseman Boyce Flinn were the only seniors in last year's starting lineup.

Emlen Hare, whose home is on the Princeton Pike, is a leading candidate for an outfield berth after a good season on Matt Davidson's freshman nine. He has the advantage of being a switch hitter. Colby, State of Maine champion, will open the season Saturday, March 30, on University Field. The Tigers will play seven other opponents, six of them here, before going against Navy at Annapolis in their league opener.

PHS QUESTION MARKS

Are Spring Teams Good? Practice sessions for the varsity track and baseball forces of Princeton High School are well underway this week, and both Win Niles, veteran coach of the track team, and Harry Zoll, rookie coach of the PHS nine, are asking themselves similar questions. The BIG one: "What have I got here for the spring campaign ahead?"

Though the seriousness of Coach Niles' query might be challenged, since the Little Tigers have captured the Central Jersey track and field championships 13 years in a row and the state group III title for six years running, it is true that he will have to do a lot of string-pulling to get the streaks going in 1957. Of 16 lettermen last June, he has three left. Of the co-captains elected to lead this year's team, he has one left.

Sports In Princeton

Transfers, illnesses and academic disappointments have hurt the FHS track team since graduation did its customary damage at the end of the '56 season. Perhaps the most significant of all is the loss of Co-Captain Bruce Nystrom, who moved away from the Princeton area, for he was expected to fill a void in the sprints that has existed for the past few springs. So Princeton must develop new dash men before April 20, when the campaign commences at West Point with the now-traditional All-Stars vs. Poles meet (the All-Stars hail from FHS, Highland Park and New Brunswick).

While concerned about the loss of lettersmen and the sprint problems, Coach Niles is not altogether pessimistic this week. He is happy with the good weather, which was bad and delayed his training program considerably a year ago, and he is delighted with the first-week turnout of 57 hopefuls. On top of that, he is happy with Princeton's bright prospects in the field events—particularly Captain Nick Kovalakides, who was almost the whole FHS in 1956; "triple" (javelin, discus, shot put) in five dual meets, successful defense of his javelin crown in the state meet, 12 all-important points in the group III competition (including a javelin toss of 190 feet 8 inches) and a new FMS javelin mark (182 feet 6 inches).

Niles, who will be assisted by Jerry Groninger and Dick Wood, provided the following "preliminary" rundown as of opening week: Dick Knowles, javelin and sprints; Roddy Fannell, broad and high jumps; Bill Gallant, javelin, shot and discus; Tommy Denison and Keith Hazard, discus; Nelson Coughlan, 440; Neil Volvieder and Bobby Burns, half-mile; and Bob Fowler, Tony Boccanfuso and Roger Nicol, sprints.

Hurlers Badly Needed. Coach Zoll, who has taken over Morrell Shepard's duties after five years with the FHS freshmen, is just as quizzical—and just as enthusiastic—as Coach Niles. He realizes that the Little Tigers, who went the distance last season (3-9) with only two pitchers, must field at least three to get anywhere this spring. As a result, he is trying out every possible mound candidate, even promising ninth graders who boast interesting junior high credentials.

Zoll is assuming the varsity coaching chores at a time when FHS diamond fortunes have reached one of their lowest ebb. "Shepard is a fine coach," Zoll commented, in passing tribute, "but his first and last campaign proved a nightmare because of the limited pitching staff, and the lack of support behind the only available pitchers." The new coach is sure this spring's field weather, having arrived early, will aid the hitting and fielding situation immeasurably—and will give his club a new lease on life.

"We are emphasizing batting to knock in some runs," Zoll stressed, referring to the junior varsity, with George Povlatis as coach, and the freshmen, with Joe Jinnoli as coach, as well as his own group. "We lost some close ones last year (four shut-outs and two by one run) which we won't lose this year."

Five Make Top Fives

A quintet of Princeton schoolboys was honored this week by the Trenton Sunday Times-Advertiser, which placed them on its All-Deleware Valley basketball teams as a result of their play during the recently concluded season. The sole repeater, "Marvellous" Marv Trotman, Princeton High's all-time high scorer who earned a berth on the newspaper's No. 1 high school five last year and a similar post on the top prep school five this year due to his standout work at Pennington Prep.

Picking up where Trotman left off last winter, the Little Tigers' Alan Ammerman, who tallied 446 in 19 games, was chosen for the first high school quintet—the only junior so named. Dick Berger, captain of the FHS varsity, was chosen for a slot on the fourth high school team, while George Cramer, Hun School's leading point-maker, and Bob Montgomery, Trotman's running-mate at Pennington, won positions on the second prep school team.

are still almost a month off, the new coach is sure right-handers Porky Phox (2-2 a year ago) and Ivan Riddick (joyve mainstay in 1956) will be his starters. "I isn't at all sure who his No. 3 pitcher will be— even as a reserve performer— although he is "high" on Jack Hawkins, a right-handed freshman, and may open the door for him.

Elsewhere, Captain Bob Faherty and Dick Berger, both vets, and Bryce Chase, a real hustler, are good bets for the FHS outfield, and Alan Ammerman, who, "just can't receive an injury," is the sole catching hope. In the infield, Zoll is counting heavily on Steve Hogarty, first base, Dave Britton at second or short, George Wilson at third and Joe Chibbaro at the fourth infield position. Ammerman is the only varsity returnee who hit .250 or better last season.

Witherspoon Cagers 9-1. On the heels of a fine basketball season, which saw his team win nine of 10 games, Coach Simeon Moss of Witherspoon School predicted this week that his players will help Princeton High's varsity in future years, maybe even next season. He noted that his much better-than-average club defeated Princeton Country Day, West Windsor and an alumni club twice each and Valley Road, Hopewell and the Princeton "All-Stars" once each. The sole loss was administered by Valley Road.

Lauding his dependable starters, Moss, who was aided by Irwin Weiss, physical education director, gave the following season's end report: Tommy Petrone, probably the most promising performer, was high scorer; Jimmy Barbour, the "tall man," did most of the rebounding and was usually scoring; Charlie Cirullo was a steady floor man, the team's all-out hustler; David Smith demonstrated a good set shot; early in the victory over Valley Road; and Gary Grover and Lamont Fletcher proved helpful in filling the team's fifth position.

ART MUSEUM EXHIBIT

Stephen Greene Work on View. The main loan exhibition of The Art Museum is devoted this year to an exhibition of paintings and oil sketches by Stephen Greene. Mr. Greene has been teaching in the Creative Arts Program of Princeton since last fall and work of his students has already been shown in Antioch Court and most recently at the Little Gallery.

Mr. Greene had his fourth one-man show at the Grace Borgenicht Gallery in New York in 1955, and various museums own examples of his work. The exhibition at The Art Museum is in one of the upper galleries and will be shown through March 31.

Judging by the contents of this exhibition, his styles have dominated the artist's work, an earlier representational style and a later and presently continuing more abstract manner. The subject matter of the oil canvases is mostly religious, though the oil sketches contain more genre and completely abstract work.

The two earliest paintings come from the 1930's and are expressed in terms of clear representation with a strong emphasis on formal pattern. "Figures at the Foot of the Cross," shows a grim, hairless man with fragile gesturing hands, blocked and cut up by the lines of the cross and ladder.

"The Flagellators", from the year before, 1936, is a much rougher surfaced oil. The flat patterned scenery-like prisms in front and behind a rather frontal row of figures gives a strong sense of modern skeletal theatre framework.

Christ's tormentors are themselves tormented and incapable of action. Perhaps one could think of it from a different point of view, as a symbolic action, with the tormentors' rods held strangely in midair. However, the total effect is one of frustration.

After these two paintings of the 40's, there is a distinct break in style which can most easily be seen in another painting of the Flagellation from 1956. The colors have become violent and expressionistic (reds, oranges) and the manner more abstract.

The Tormentors tower over a half figure below them. There are no props, no action but drama and suffering in the figures and colors. The artist is clearly painting his own corner of hell.

The best and most powerful painting is "The Deposition", 1955. The long, vertical format encloses a painting executed chiefly in blues, with any contour lines in orange, as in Christ's crown of thorns. A long grimacing figure takes down a feeble body.

The figures are dimly but powerfully seen through partial abstraction. The human emotion of the drama has not been nullified by abstraction and therein perhaps lies the power.

Another successful painting is the "Saul and David" of 1954. Here again the figures emerge dimly from the background so that the figures are hardly visible against the red patterned background.

Only the yellow outline of the harp stands out clearly. Here one would think of Vuillard, as the effect is close to that of his paintings.

One of the few non-religious paintings, "Landscape" 1955, shows a strangely effective huge grasshopper in orange outline against a field of many colors.

Ten "Drawings", done in Princeton in February of this year, complete the show. These are executed in oil and clay on linen.

"Beasts" shows an orange-red pig-like beast with open mouth roaring against a better-sketched background. The violence of color and repulsive animal alike suggest some dreadful carnage.

A quieter sketch in color and outlook shows two women in red in broken line where the effect is one of mass rather than of line. On the whole, the sketches are much more abstract than the recent paintings.

Sydney Greene's paintings run from cool patterned representation in early work to more abstract, violently-colored and expressionistic canvases in this decade. It is surprising to find the paintings cover in time only 11 years.

noted down. Clients of this mushrooming organization are national advertisers who sell everything from soup to bandages.

INDUSTRIAL ADVERTISING RESEARCH INSTITUTE, 15 Chambers, conducts research into the general field of industrial advertising, such as, of course, concerned solely with the movement of goods within industry.

Its staff has published reports on how to budget for industrial advertising; evaluating industrial exhibit techniques; and so on. At the moment, among other things, it is studying copy and layout of 4,000 industrial advertisements, and gathering data on establishing direct mail lists. The organization was founded in 1952.

INSTITUTE FOR INTERNATIONAL SOCIAL RESEARCH, 240 Nassau, is the product of a long association between Hadley Cantril and Lloyd A. Free. Together, these social psychologists are investigating the psychological background of whatever political actions affect the international scene.

For example, they have two series of studies under way at the moment. One will analyze the psychological reasons that impel French and Italian voters to vote Communist. The second will attempt to find out what, psychologically, is behind the actions that top government people take in France, Italy, Great Britain and West Germany.

MIRROR OF AMERICA, Hopewell Theater, is George Gallup's "research laboratory," where interviewers can test a questionnaire, shoot a film or a TV program and ask an audience intensive questions about it. Organizations are invited to attend, and the Mirror contributes to each one that does so.

OPINION RESEARCH CORPORATION, 44 Nassau, founded by Claude E. Robinson in 1938, is one of the country's largest and oldest market and attitude research firms. It publishes the monthly Public Opinion Index for Industry, which informs its subscribers about the current status of automation, college recruiting programs, Communists in industry, or the art of communicating with employees' wives.

It serves over 200 companies and trade associations, providing not only research but interpretation as well. ORC examines a company's stockholder relations program, pre-tests the new packaging of somebody's dog food, or finds out how private utility companies ought to approach the public in their advertisements.

PRINCETON PANEL, Research Park, founded last year by Claude E. Robinson is a center for studying and teaching the principles of capitalism. It will be built on a 66-acre tract north of the Shopping Center.

PRINCETON RESEARCH SERVICE, 341 Nassau, operates two polls: "The Man on the Street," which is syndicated in newspapers all over the country, and the "New Jersey Poll" which appears in state newspapers. (TOWN TOPICS carries it in Princeton.) Each of these polls measures opinion on issues of the day. Princeton Research claims a perfect record for nation-wide election predictions since 1952.

The Service specializes in research for government. Its interviewers have worked for legislative subcommittees on education, school taxes, and teachers' salaries. Are people changing their shopping habits? Why is a given bank losing its customers? How can we put over a Community Chest drive? How can we make our town better? This is a fair sample of Princeton Research Service work.

And in addition, Pioneer in the field of radio ratings, Archibald Crossley maintained his firm in Princeton from 1926 until he liquidated it in 1954. He is now a member of Crossley S-D Surveys, sub-organization of Stewart-Douglass, a New York marketing research company.

Princeton University publishes The Public Opinion Quarterly and maintains the Office of Public Opinion Research. This office is devoted wholly to archives—cards and microfilm—that cover two decades of opinion research. It is available to all of the University departments or to others for research only.

PUBLIC OPINION SURVEYS, 53 Bank, is the interviewing organization that secures the 900 interviewers used by Gallup's firms. The Wengel Service Corporation, 90 Nassau, also has Gallup connections. A. R. Wengel serves as treasurer of Opinion Research, Gallup and Robinson and the Chambers Street Corporation that owns Gallup's property.

"OPEN SESAME—PLEASE OPEN SESAME!" Making light of a none-too-light situation that has existed at Princeton Post Office since October 13, young members of the Junior Community Players' first and second-grade workshop assembled this week on the building's steps to herald—they hope—the unveiling of long-awaited new front doors. Replacement of the old revolving door started six months ago, was delayed by weather complications and intricate marble-carving requirements, and, finally, was postponed until this week by a strike at the bronze company which is readying the new in-and-out double doors (bronze ones). As of Town Topics press deadline, the doors were still missing—and the heralders were threatening a repeat performance. News of The CHURCHES

Lenten Music. Fifty children will participate in a Lenten Vesper Service to be held next Thursday at 4:15 p.m. in the Chapel of Westminster Choir College. The boys and girls are members of the Junior Choir under the direction of Virginia Cheesman, faculty member of Westminster, who uses the choir as a laboratory group for a class in Junior Choir Methods. Lenten Vespers is one of several services prepared by the choir throughout the year.

Bethoven's Mass in C will be sung on April 7 by the choir of the Methodist church under the direction of Thomas Hilbith. Soloists will be Thelma Young, soprano; Barbara Hilbith, contralto; Robert Simpson, tenor; James Workison, baritone. A full orchestra will accompany the work.

Bulletin Notes. "Practical Benefits from Trusting God," a Christian Science program, will be given this Sunday on CBS "Church of the Air" series, broadcast over WCBS and WCAU from 10:30 to 11 a.m. Maurice W. Haslewell speaks. The program has started a twice-weekly pre-school nursery to give morning care to the youngest members of the parish. The service will operate on Mondays and Fridays from 9-11:30 a.m. in the Parish House nursery, with a supervisor and some mothers in attendance.

There will be no charge except for a small registration fee. Mothers may leave children who are 2-5 years of age. Mrs. Robert Lessing, telephone 1-2534, will provide additional information.

Women of the Mt. Pleasant A.M.E. Church raised $1132 at their Women's Day last week. The money will be applied to the connectional budget, required of the church by its affiliation with the national A.M.E. churches, and it will also be used for local expenses.

Clergymen have until April 15 to file returns of social security tax exemption. By filing such a waiver, a minister, member of a religious order of Christian Science, or a layman may have his earnings count toward old age, survivors and disability insurance.

New Window View

A new window depicting the Creation and related scenes from the first three chapters of Genesis will be dedicated this Sunday in the University Chapel following the 11 a.m. service. The window was executed by Henry Lee Willit, graduate of Princeton and one of the country's foremost artists in stained glass. It was presented to the University Chapel by Frederick J. H. Sut-

The window is the first in the iconography which presents the history of the spiritual development of the Jews as the parallel and preparation for the life and teaching of Christ. The three central lancets, which feature the Creation of Adam and Eve, are decorated colorfully, with the Devil portrayed as a handsome, suave individual, and Adam and Eve done in a quiet manner with greys and blues. The window will take place in the balcony facing the window. Mr. Willit will speak to the congregation on the meaning of the symbolism he used in his creation.

LITTLE but LOADED with CHARM at $31,000—

Traditionally the best things come in small packages—a 3 bedroom New England reproduction is no exception. From its paneled living-room, with huge fireplace, to its half-acre secluded West End lot, everything about the house is desirable.

SOLID CONCEPT plus TOP CONDITION at $55,000.

In a peaceful, convenient neighborhood, this pleasant, comfortable house has a dual personality. A small family can occupy its foamy downstairs, continuing to rent the apartment upstairs. A large family can spread out on both floors, using five bedrooms, workshop, potential playroom, etc. Extra attraction: beautiful landscaping.

HANDSOME yet HOMELIKE

This mellow brick house, in its lovely, accessible Township setting combines the atmosphere of an English manor house with the efficiency of American planning. Six bedrooms, 4 baths, large living and dining rooms, library, sunporch, servants' wing, marvelous closets—all planned for the maximum of space with the minimum of care.

ENTIRE ENGLISH VILLAGE on ON THE DELAWARE

This is the most unusual and wonderfully different property in Bucks County. The main house built in 1770 of hand-hewn beams, stone, and leaded windows, has 4 rooms, 4 fireplaces and its own walled garden and grounds. Through the iron gates you find the most attractive Gothic style studio with stone fireplace and kitchen. 60-year studio built as a British herring-bone brick cottage, a 2-story masonry barn as a kennel. Two garages and a separate garden house complete the village. As we wandered about the two and a half acres, we felt quite like Alice in Wonderland.

MAKE YOUR HOME MORE LIVABLE WITH

BURNHAM Cast-Iron

BASERAY!

WOODS FLOORS AND WALLS WITH CLEAN EVEN Radiant HEAT

The cozy, clean, draft-free warmth of BASE-RAY Radiant Baseboards is the easiest floor-to-ceiling heat known. And solid, dent-proof cast-iron construction gives true radiant heat plus lifetime service. *See U. S. Pat. Off.

ONLY 7" HIGH - 2" THICK

EASY TO INSTALL

ADVANTAGES OVER STEEL OR COPPER BASEBOARD:

1. With BURNHAM Baseray's Cast Iron you get radiant heat—with copper or steel units you get warm air.
2. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Baseray's Radiant heat means warm floors and walls—only 2" to 3" temperature difference between floor and ceiling. Because warm air rises, units primarily heating the air can't provide such even temperatures.
3. BURNHAM Baseray is only 7" high, looks natural in your living room. Most copper and steel baseboard is 10" high and looks more artificial.
4. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Baseray is sturdy, no fins to break off in later years.
5. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Baseray is a bit more expensive than competitive steel or copper baseboards. But on the overall cost of your whole heating job this difference will be perhaps 2 to 3%.
6. Cast-Iron BURNHAM Baseray will give you steady heat. Because copper heats and cools rapidly, copper baseboard will give you cycles of "Too Hot!" and "Too Cool!"

WHAT IS RADIANT HEAT?
Ever been out on a warm spring day? The radiant warmth of the sun's rays gives your body that comfortable feeling. Let the sun get behind a cloud and you are suddenly chilly. The temperature of the air hasn't changed, but you've lost the radiant heat of the sun. That's what you give up when you install a warm air system instead of a radiant hot water heating system. And cast iron Baseray provides a maximum of radiant heat. The warm surfaces of the room give off rays which warm your body like the sun.
